

Hello,

First I would like to apologize for not being here in person, but I had surgery #32 this morning. I am honored to be a part of, and be a recipient of the Bright Light Foundation. Your kindness and generosity will be part of the springboard toward the process of me walking again. Throughout my journey, I have met some amazing people, and seen some amazing things. I would love to tell you all of them, but time may not be on my side for that one! It makes me proud to know that regardless of what you read in today's papers, or see on today's news, that there are some truly good people in this world. People who will get together, and help someone in need, and on top of that, it's someone they may not even know. I hope that throughout my future travels, I am able to put the same smile on someone's face as you have mine. You are all truly God's people. Thanks again, and may God bless you all.

Chris Richardson